It stands the Revere Test. That's the best that can be said about BLACK CAT HOSIERY.

When the fence-climbing, marble-playing, rope-jumping, wrestling, romping kids start—the only hose which "saves the day" is the famous old "Black Cat."

Reinforced at toe and heel and the famous triple knee—it's the Mother's only escape from the drudgery of continuous darning. We are glad to help by recommending the Universal Favorite.

J. E. CARTER DIES SUDDLY

Stricken Sunday Morning With Paralysis and Died Before Midnight.

The passing of Mr. J. E. Carter Sunday night was a personal loss to every one who knew him, and he was probably one of the best known farmers in Jasper County. Born near Avilla 60 years ago, he lived in the county all his life, for some years past residing on the farm where he died, about 2 miles east of Jasper.

He was a man of the highest moral standards, a man of many interests, and in every way a Christian gentleman. It was a privilege to know him, and to come under the influence of such a character means an uplift in the lives of those thus privileged. We can ill afford to lose such men—there are too few like him.

Miss Armstrong, in her Lebanon correspondence, quotes verses from "Tully" that are singularly appropriate to the passing of this good man.

Mr. Carter was milking last Sunday morning, when he discovered that he was losing the use of his right hand and couldn't finish his work. He went to the house and in a few minutes lost the use of his right side. By 10 or 11 o'clock he was unconscious and probably completely paralyzed. He lay in that helpless state until about 11 p. m. when he passed away without regaining consciousness.

Mrs. Carter and the following sons survive: James D., Charles C. and Walter E. of Carthage; John M. Carter, who resides on a farm near where his father died; Roy Carter, who resided with his parents; and Max Carter, a student at the State University. J. S. Carter of Carthage, and U. S. Carter, a farmer near Avilla, are brothers of deceased. James D. Carter and his wife are in California and could not get home for the funeral.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning at the Baptist Church, Rev. John W. T. Givens of Carthage conducting the service. The choir was composed of H. J. Deardorff, Mrs. C. E. Brown, Miss Ethel Peterson and Roy Bowers. Miss Oma Webb was at the piano. The church was crowded to its utmost with friends and former associates of Mr. Carter from all over the county. The remains were laid away in Mitchell Cemetery.

Sales, Past and to Come.

The Shoopman-Gresham sale, postponed from February 22, was held Tuesday in favorable weather except for the mud, a good attendance being present. Mr. Rex, the auctioneer, reports to this office that stock brought very fair prices, a team of mules bringing $442, jersey cows, $90 and $100 and other stock in proportion. The sale totaled $3200.

Saturday, March 6.—S. C. Davis will sell at his barn seven or eight saddle and driving horses, several good buggies, a lot of harness, laprobes, and many other articles. Rex and Radford, auctioneers.

Tuesday, March 9.—The sale advertised by Harve McCune and others at the McCune farm, 4 miles north and 7½ west of Jasper, March 4, was postponed to Tuesday, March 9. They will sell 9 horses and mules, 10 cattle, farm tools, pigs, seed corn, oats, etc. Rex, Auctioneer.

Wednesday, March 10.—The W. H. Ward sale, postponed from February 27 to the above date, will take place at the Ward farm, 1 mile east of town. R. P. Lane is adding to this sale his big span of young mules that carried off the blue ribbon at the Jasper City Fair last fall. Rex and Boland, auctioneers.

Death of T. R. Strecker.

Theodore R. Strecker, a farmer about 40 years of age, residing about 9 miles southeast of Jasper, died of pneumonia Wednesday night of last week. He was a brother of Will and Fred Strecker, well known Jasper County farmers, and Mrs. F. F. Folmer, and Mrs. G. T. Binney of Jasper.

Funeral services were conducted at Forest Park Church near Joplin, where deceased lived many years.

The ladies of the Uthai Society of the M. E. Church, and several of their friends who assisted, deserve credit for their splendid entertainment at the opera house last Friday night.

Shipping for Passed Year.

The News is indebted to J. J. Cadagan, agent for the Missouri-Pacific Railway at Jasper, for the following statement of the live stock and farm produce shipped from Jasper during the year 1913.

The statement shows the community in a good light in face of the fact that a good corn crop the past four years has been very noticeable by its absence. With good corn and normal feeding conditions live stock shipments from this point would probably be doubled.

Following is the statement:

Death of Young Man.

James Triplett, who resided at the home of his mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Tucker, 5 miles southwest of Jasper, died suddenly Sunday morning. He was about 24 years old, and had been afflicted with lung trouble for some time. He recently had pneumonia, but was thought to have almost recovered from that. He was about the house Sunday morning when he suddenly collapsed in his chair and died in a few minutes.

James Triplett was an industrious, honest young man. He made an uphill fight for life against adverse circumstances, and lost.

Dr. Clinton to Lecture Here.

Under the auspices of the W. H. M. S. an illustrated stereopticon lecture will be given at the M. E. Church Monday evening, March 8, by Dr. Clinton of Carthage. No admission will be charged but a silver offering will be taken. A cordial invitation is extended not only to those interested in missions, but to every one.

A. H. T. A. Meet at Riley King's.

February 27, 1913, will be remembered by some as a day of disappointment, the weather conditions causing the ground hog to crawl far back into his hole, but to some of the members of that grand old organization so well known in Jasper County, the Anti Horse Thief Association, it will be remembered with happy recollections. According to previous arrangements the members of Sub-Order 192, A. H. T. A., with their families and friends to the number of 53, met at the home of E. R. King, five miles southwest of Jasper, and spent a most enjoyable evening. While the men were discussing the beauties and financial benefit of co-operation amongst farmers as instanced by the proposed farmers co-operative grain elevator to be located at Jasper, their wives and daughters were preparing a spread in the dining room such as the ladies of the A. H. T. A. know so well how to prepare and for which they are so famous. Your scribe will not attempt to describe it. Suffice it to say that the oyster soup and cakes in abundance were such as the gods might envy and to which all present did ample justice. After supper the company were entertained with music and songs by the ladies and some excellent male voices present, also by some choice selections on the graphophone by Mr. Post. It is needless to say that the time passed all too quickly and at a late hour the happy company left for their homes, after giving the ladies a vote of thanks for the splendid entertainment and arranging for a grand wolf hunt in the near future.

The pleasure of the evening brought vividly to the mind of your scribe what the old Scottish bard so beautifully portrays as the time—

When man to man the world o'er
Shall brothers be for a' that.

William Patterson.

William Anthony Leighty.

William Anthony Leighty, son of W. D. and M. E. Leighty, was born in Shelby County, Ill., September 16, 1888. He departed this life February 25, 1915, aged 26 years, 5 months, 3 days.

He left father, mother, two sisters and other relatives to look forward to a happy meeting in the sweet by and by. Five years ago he left the parental home, going first to Kansas, then to North Dakota, where he spent the summer working on a farm. In October, 1910, he went to Saskatchewan, Canada, where he gained a home for himself. He came January 14, 1915, for a visit with parents and sisters, the first since leaving home, never thinking he would not return to his home in Canada; but God in His infinite love called him to a brighter and better home, where sorrow and parting never come.

A Friend.

Make a Bow, George.

George Rex, the wealthy stockman and land owner of Jasper, was in Lamar, Wednesday, visiting his brother, R. H. Rex.—Lamar Democrat.

An oil stove went on a "tear" at S. B. Lawson's last night, but by the determined action of several young ladies present the fire was subdued with only slight loss to the furniture in the room.

The news items from two of our excellent rural correspondents are being omitted this week because of their late arrival. Probably some unavoidable circumstance delayed them. We like to get the news Monday night, and we must have it by Tuesday night.
